If "creative food" like "crispy trotters" and "well-made" cocktails are "what you crave", this New American "casual sister" to Nancy Oakes' "more upscale Boulevard" is "a likely prospect"; its "spiffy" "New York-ish" decor, "impeccable service" and "yuppie crowd" are reflective of its locale in a "tony" SoMa "high-rise", but if you've got an "expense" account, "first-rate" dinners and "Sunday brunch" will "surprise and delight", while the "robust bar scene" is HQ for "happy hour" deals and drinks.
